

Singapore Packaging Star Awards 2021

CALL FOR ENTRIES

Invitation for entry submissions for the Singapore Packaging Star Awards 2021 (SPSA 2021) is now open for manufacturers, designers and students to vie for this prominent award in packaging excellence.

The Singapore Packaging Star Awards (SPSA) is a prestigious national award organized by the Packaging Council of Singapore (PCS), an industry group under Singapore Manufacturing Federation (SMF). PCS is a member of the Asian Packaging Federation (APF) and the World Packaging Organization (WPO).

SPSA honors companies with innovative and creative packaging designs. It recognizes and rewards excellence in packaging, in areas of construction and materials usage, design, innovation technology and environmental consciousness. This year, SPSA will be adding a new category, Point of Sale for both commercial and student entries.

The Award is presented to companies/students as part of the efforts from packaging and printing industry to promote local designs and increases the standards of packaging production in Singapore.

Singapore Packaging Start Awards (SPSA) 2021 winners will receive an engrave glass trophy and a packaging excellence certificate where they can prominently display in their company. SPSA 2021 winners will also be featured in the SPSA 2021 Winners Booklet. Lastly, winner will have the right to use the logo of the SPSA 2021 in any of their advertising collaterals.

Only winners of this national award are eligible to participate in the regional Asia Packaging Award and the global World Star Packaging Award.
